Memorandum

The following recommendation was included in the report of the Conference and Trade Relations Committee presented at the Third Annual Business Meeting of the Association held at the Hotel Sherman, Chicago, January 19th, 20th and 21st, 1921, and was unanimously adopted:

> "That the Trade Relations Committee draft a letter to be sent to all persons, firms or corporations engaged in the fruit and produce business, who are not members of an association that has already adopted the Standard Rules and Definitions of Trade Terms, and to explain to them to sign an agreement to trade under them. A date thereafter shall be fixed by the Committee and a public announcement of such date be made by the Committee to the effect that the Association will publish a list of all dealers who have agreed to trade under the Standard Rules and Definitions of Trade Terms."

On March 14th, 1921, a joint conference was held in Chicago with a similar committee of the Western Fruit Jobbers and this subject among others was discussed and a circular letter was drawn up to be printed and mailed broad-cast to all jobbers throughout the country who were not members of any association or who were members of an association which had not yet formally adopted the Standard Trading Rules. As the Western Fruit Jobbers Association had adopted the Rules at their convention in Colorado Springs in January, 1921, this letter was not sent to any of their members, excepting a few to whom it was sent in error. Copy of this letter is reproduced below.

"To All Concerned:

"Nearly two years ago a Joint Committee of Shippers and Jobbers representing the American Fruit and Vegetable Shippers Association, the National League of Commission Merchants of the United States, the International Apple Shippers Association and the Western Fruit Jobbers Association of America met and formulated the 'Standard Rules and Definitions of Trade Terms for the Fruit and Vegetable Industry' to cover the sale and purchase of fruits and vegetables in carloads.

Object of the Rules

"The object in preparing these 'rules and definitions' was to clearly define trading terms or expressions that are commonly used in trading in order to avoid misunderstandings and to offer an avenue through which grievances that may arise can be quickly and equitably adjusted. From a careful study of differences that arise between seller and buyer we find they are usually caused by a misunderstanding on the part of the one or other of the parties as to the correct definition of the expressions or terms used when quoting products offered.

Adoption of the Rules

"The Standard Trading Rules have been adopted by the American Fruit & Vegetable Shippers Association, the Fruit & Vegetable Brokers' Association, the Western Fruit Jobbers' Association of America, the Colorado Potato Shippers' Association and the Melon Distributors' Association.

"The International Apple Shippers' Association and the National League of Commission Merchants of the United States have approved the 'Definitions and Rules' and have recommended them for use by their members.

"We feel that all individual dealers not now members of any association that have adopted the 'Rules and Definitions' should likewise adopt and trade under them.

Advantages of the Rules

"The advantages to a dealer of taking this action are obvious. It is our intention on or about May 1st, after receiving replies to this letter, to publish a list of shippers and jobbers who wish to adopt and trade under them. We believe the shippers are going to look with favor on the jobber whose name is on that list. You will be relieved from the unfair methods now practiced by some unscrupulous shippers and jobbers who take advantage of the lack of any general understanding as to the meaning of terms used in trading. The adoption and general use of these Standard Trading Rules will overcome most of the difficulties arising between seller and buyer, making the negotiations pleasant and profitable to them both and do much towards eliminating conditions that tend to cause waste and injury to the producer, seller, buyer and consumer.

"In addition to the advantages enumerated you will be protected if you adopt these 'Trading Rules and Definitions' from the shipper who does not fully live up to his contract obligations. If that shipper is a member of our Association his quotations or sales in the absence of any written agreement are subject to these 'Rules and Definitions.' Under the By-Laws of our Association you have the right if he does not fully live up to his contract to file a complaint against him through the Association and such complaint will be handled by our Executive Committee and whatever action is warranted by the facts in the case will be taken.

Invitation to Adopt the Rules

"We understand you are not now a member of a National Association that has adopted these 'Rules and Definitions.' We are enclosing with this letter, on the back of which you will note the 'Rules and Definitions' have been printed, one copy of the pamphlet containing these rules in convenient form, together with a receipt for your signature. If you will adopt these 'Standard Rules and Definitions' for your own trading in the absence of any other written agreement, please sign this receipt and forward it to the American Fruit & Vegetable Shippers' Association, 139 North Clark St., Chicago, Illinois, where it will be placed and kept on file, retaining this letter and the copy of the Standard Trading Rules for your own use. You have the right to trade under specific contracts if you so elect, but in the absence of any such special contract it would be understood that your trading was subject to the Standard Trading Rules.

Membership of the Association

"The membership of the Association is scattered throughout the United States and the total combined shipments of its members reach over one-half million of carloads of fruits and vegetables annually. Every shipper and jobber in good standing should now be a member of some National Association to which he is eligible and thus be properly recognized and endorsed."

Conditions of Agreement

We are also reproducing a fac-simile of postalcard which accompanied the circular letter:

"Number.....

"American Fruit & Vegetable Shippers Assn.,
139 North Clark Street,
Chicago, Ill.

"Receipt is hereby acknowledged of your letter of March 24, 1921, with which you enclose a copy of circular prepared by your Conference and Trade Relations Committee, also copy of pamphlet containing the Standard Rules and Definitions of Trade Terms, numbered ..... for the Fruit and Vegetable Industry.

"We have carefully read your letter and circular referred to, also the Standard Rules and Definitions of Trade Terms and hereby assent to adopt and trade under them and our transactions will be considered as subject to said Trading Rules in the absence of any written contract to the contrary.

.....Firm Name

Date..... Per....."

Status of Rules

In response to this letter which was mailed on March 24th, 1921, a large number of firms signed and returned these agreements to adopt and trade under the Standard Trading Rules in the absence of agreements or contracts containing terms of sale at variance with those contained in the Rules, these signed agreements being on file in this office. A list of those firms who have signed these agreements is printed in this circular, the names being arranged alphabetically by States. Included therein are the names of the members of The American Fruit and Vegetable Shippers' Association, The Colorado Potato Shippers' Association, The Fruit and Vegetable Brokers' Association and The Melon Distributors' Association. These Associations have formally adopted the Rules which signifies that the sales, quotations and contracts of sale by the members of these organizations are subject to the Standard Trading Rules in the absence of specific contracts to the contrary. The Western Fruit Jobbers' Association of America have also formally adopted the Standard Trading Rules and the sales, quotations and contracts of sale by members of that association are presumed to be also subject to the Standard Trading Rules in the absence of specific contracts to the contrary. The International Apple Shippers and the National League of Commission Merchants have also approved and recommended their use.

The firms shown below (excepting those shown as being members of those Associations which have adopted the Standard Rules and Definitions of Trade Terms for the Fruit and Vegetable Industry) have definitely agreed in writing to adopt and trade under the Standard Trading Rules and their transactions will be considered as subject to said Trading Rules in the absence of any written contract to the contrary. The transactions of those firms shown as being members of an Association are also subject to the Trading Rules in the absence of written contracts to the contrary by reason of the formal adoption of the Trading Rules by the Associations mentioned. The names of the members of the Western Fruit Jobbers Association of America are not included in this list, with the exception of the names of those firms who have actually signed the written agreement referred to, but the transactions of all of the members of the Western Fruit Jobbers Association of America are presumed to be subject to the said trading rules in the absence of specific written contracts by reason of the action taken by that Association at its annual meeting in Colorado Springs, January, 1921, in formally adopting the standard trading rules. If specific information as to the names of the members of the Western Fruit Jobbers Association is desired inquiry should be addressed to the headquarters of the Association at Denver, Colorado.
